DEATH OF THE HARTFORD. The Result of a Cold Carries Of W. C.

Daly's Great Colt. WASHINGTON, April 27.-W. C. Daly's crack celt The Hartford is dead. His performances at the St. Asaph track were of such a sensational order that turfmen at the track united in pre-dicting that he would be the greatest two-yearold of the year. Many critics went further and said he was one of the fastest race florses ever saddled in this country. He was a brown gelding of much substance, by Himyar, the aire of Domino and other great horses, out of Pere, who was a full sister to Iroquois, the American winner of the English Derby. He had a white face, and both hind legs were white to the hooks. The Hartford's career on the turf was brief but brilliant. His first start was at St. Asaph on March 25, in a two-year-old race for a half mile. He won in such hollow fashion that he at once sprang into the affections of the horsemen at the track. It was not the field that he defeated, but the manner in which he performed that won such praises for him. He wot away from his field at the fall of the flag as if he were a bird, and reached the quarter pole in 2:34 seconds. Young Keefe, who had the mount, tried in vain to keep him back with his field, and the colt won in a walk in 51 seconds. Good judges declared at the time that he would have negotiated the half-mile with ease in 48 seconds, or even better had it been necessary. Immediately after the race Jack Bennett of New York offered the old man $8,500 for the cult before he had been unaaddied. Daly's reply was that he had already rejused $9,000. Then came a reported offer of $12,000 from New York. The actoin of the Jockey Club in declaring The Hartford out of all his stake engagements because of the non-payment of forfeits followed. This put a sort of a damper on the would-be purchasers.

The Hartford ran his first race on a Monday and on Friday of the same week he made his second appearance. He won easily and in the fast time of 493 seconds for the half mile, which was a good performance over the St. Asaph track. But the sun of his greatness had already begun to set. He had contracted a cold a day or two previous to his last performance, and it was noticed that he did not have the great burst of appead which he displayed in his first race. The best he could do was 24 seconds for the first quarter, and at one time it looked as if he might be beaten. He responded gallantly to the call of his lockey, however, and, coming on, won cleverly by a length from Dr. Street's Summertime. Domino and other great horses, out of Pere, who was a full sister to Iroquois, the American

The race was the dying struggle of one of the most promising celts American turfmen have seen in years. He was taken dangerously ill almost immediately, but lincered until this morning, when he died in his stall at St. Asaph.

MUD LARKS IN EVIDENCE.

Running Over a Poor Track at Alexander

Washington, April 27.-The track to-day at Alexander Island was not up to expectations, and mud larks were in evidence. A selling race for three-year-olds and upward opened the day's sport. Despair, a 15 to 1 shot, won by a length. The next race went to Wistful, cleverly piloted by Jockey Parsons. Annie T., at 30 to 1, upset the calculations of the talent by winning the third race. The hopes of the crowd were redeemed in the fourth race, when Galloping Con Lucey, well ridden by Coleman, downed a con Lucey, weit ridden by Coleman, downed a fine field on the next event. Park's Dates, The members of the Philadelphia steeplechase meeting are not in particularly good humor because of the postponement of the three days' meeting at Morris Park under the auspices of the National Steeplechase Association. The original dates selected by the National Steeplechase Association for their spring meetwith which the Gray-Percy measure moves in the Senate has caused a postponement until May 9, 11, and 14. The Philadelphia meeting was scheduled for May 14 and 16, and it was was scheduled for May 14 and 16, and it was expected that many horses from New York would run there and that Philadelphia would be largely represented at the Morris Park meeting. It is to be hoped that some sort of a compromise will be effected. It is probable that there will be a meeting to-morrow or Tuesday of the interested parties. If the matter could be fixed by Philadelphia running its meeting off prior to the Morris Park dates, all would be well. The fact that the Brooklyn Handleap is run at Gravesend on May 15 will prevent a further postponement at Morris Park.

LEON TOO MUCH FOR RODEN. The Champion Bantam of This City Clearly

Outpoints the Jersey Lad. The newly formed Hudson County Athletto Club held its initial boxing show last night at Cakland Rink, Jersey City Heights. The attendance was not very encouraging, but the good quality of the fight-ing on this occasion ought to insure them better suc-cess for the future. The officials were: Tim Hurst, referee; James Gallagher, timekeeper, and Fred Burns, announcer.

The principals in the opening bout were Nell Smith of the Scottish-American A. C. and Jack Guerin of this city, who fought at 125 pounds. The former gained a decided advantage in the opening round, having Guerin bleeding freely from the nose and mouth. The second round was a hummer. Smith was knocked down twice and almost counted out each time. How-ever, he fought pluckly to the end, and both men ever, he fought pluckly to the end, and both men were quite weak when time was called. The third round was a repetition of the former. The men fought each other to a standstill. Guerin was forced to the ropes at times, but he landed effectively on Smith's ribs and abdomen, and the latter's blows were thereby weakened. In the fourth round the men renewed hostilities at a fast pace, and it soon became saparent that a stiff punch cither way would end the fighting. Guerin, who all along was using his guist hamour to got effect, many and the stiff punch of the round the part of the stiff punch of the stiff punches upon and George Ross of this city, who fought at 105 pounds. In a previous meeting they tought a draw, Nothing of any consequence was done in the first stiffer rounds. The pair parried considerably and it seemed as if they were measuring each other for final results. In the fourth round the pair warned up to their work, and delivered some stiff punches upon each other in a succession of quick exchanges. There was some lively work in the lifth round, Ross landing a few straight jabs that proved a bit effective, while Gorman dealt a severe swinging blow at intervals. The last round saw the pair running matters. They went at each other viciously and clinched repeatedly. However, nother gained the advantage, and the bout with the last round saw the pair running matters. They went at each other viciously and clinched repeatedly. However, nother gained the advantage, and the bout with the last round saw the pair running matters. They went at each other viciously and clinched repeatedly. However, nother gained the advantage, and the bout weighted 105 pounds and Leon was six pounds beavier. Leon dealt Hoden some severe blows yn the face with his right hand, while the laster played for the ribs and stomach. In the second round leon, by his lounds and leon was six po were quite weak when time was called. The third round was a repetition of the former. The men fought each

Capt. John Brewer's Wonderful Performance at the Trups, At Dexter Park, Long Island, yesterday, Capt. John Brewer performed the great feat of killing 100 pigeons straight. A wager of $50 was made rise with fifty yards boundary. The birds were very fast, requiring the best kind of judgment in the use of the gun. Capt. Brewer shot in fine form, killing his birds cleanly in the air with the first barrel, also hitting them with the second barrel before they touched the ground. He only used the second barrel from force of habit, as the first barrel did the work effectually.

LONDON, April 27.-Two forty-rater yachts were launched in the Clyde within the past week, Will Fife's Isolde and Mr. Watson's Caress. Both boats show that their designers are proceeding upon the lines which each adopted in the construction of the successful craft they turned out in 1894. The leoide looks like a reduced Ailsa, especially above the water, and the Caress resembles a miniature Britannia. Both boats are likely to compete for prizes in the Thames regatts.

PUSHING WORK ON THE DEFENDER The Stern Post Has a Great Rake, and the Fin Keel Principle Is Brought Out.

BRISTOL, April 27 .- Work on the Defender at the Herreshoff works has been pushed during the past week, and the big 89-footer has nearly assumed her shape. Workmen have been bus in setting up the bronze stern post, and the past few days have seen several frames placed in position at the stern just aft of the lead keel. position at the stern just at the stern just at the position at the stern just at th would come down below the top of the lead. The stern post has a great rake, and clearly demonstrates that the principle of the fin keel is brought out in the lines of the Defender.

About ten frames have been set up aft. The sounds of the rivetters hangmering incessantly throughout the whole day kell that they are busy on the manganese bronze plating. On both the port and starboard sides Amidship several plates have been rivetted, and the workmen are plating upward. About half a dozen plates are already in place on each side.

The aluminum plates, which will add to the lightness and beauty of the Defender's topsides, are in the south shop. They have been stripped of the cloth in which they were wrapped when they arrived from Pittsburgh.

The 30-footer for George Owen, Jr., of Boston is nearly ready for her fin, and she will in all probability be put overboard the latter part of next week.

The marine railway of the Herreshoffs at Papwould come down below the top of the lead. probability be put overboard the latter part of next week.

The marine railway of the Herreshoffs at Pap-poosesquaw has been taken up and brought over to the new marine railway at Walker's Cove. At the latter place John B. Herreshoff's steam yacht Eugenia is being fitted up. Several steam yachts that have been sold are being fitted out at the works. yachts that have been sold are being interested at the works.

At the factory of the National India Rubber Company, Salimaker Hathaway and his men are busy on the big mainsail for the Defender.

Saunders has nearly inished the big cat yawl for Dr. W. N. Hollingsworth of Philadelphia.

Will the Defender Have a Tiller? Heretofore all of our cup defenders, both past and present, including the Vigilant, Colonia, Jubilee, Pilgrim. Volunteer, Mayflower, and Puritan, have used a wheel for steering, while all their English opponents have used a tiller. A report comes from Bristol that the old-fashened wheel will be discarded in our new boat and that the Defender will be fitted with a
